Rockstar North and published by Rockstar Games for Microsoft Windows and PlayStation 3. The game was released in September 2008. Before its release, an advance version was given to 1,000 "non-industry VIP" beta players for feedback. The highly anticipated open world game is the second installment in the Grand Theft Auto series. It follows a protagonist named Michael De Santa who goes around a fictional city of San Andreas. The game is set in modern times and features new advances on gameplay. The art style is reminiscent of the open world role-playing game series, The Elder Scrolls, while the driving and vehicular gameplay is reminiscent of GTA San Andreas. Several other improvements were made compared to the predecessor Grand Theft Auto III. The city of San Andreas was given its own plot, while a further enhancement was made in the story of the game. Grand Theft Auto IV was made available in three languages, English, French, and Spanish. GTA IV introduced Mission Mode, a feature that offers players the ability to replay missions and replay them in different orders.
